

Guide to Planning your Hideaway Wall Bed

Issued 20/07/10, Hideaway Beds Ltd

By using this Planning Guide, you hereby agree to the following:

Our own patent internationally protects all manufactured items. Your statutory rights as a consumer are not affected. Please note that we practice a policy of continual review and reserve the right to change the above guide at any time without notice. E&OE Hideaway Beds Ltd July 2010.

Measure your Room Dimensions

To ensure you plan and measure your room correctly we have given a few guidelines on how this can be done so nothing is missed out:

1. Draw a basic shape of the room.

2. Measure length of all the walls at the top, bottom and middle (not all walls are always square).

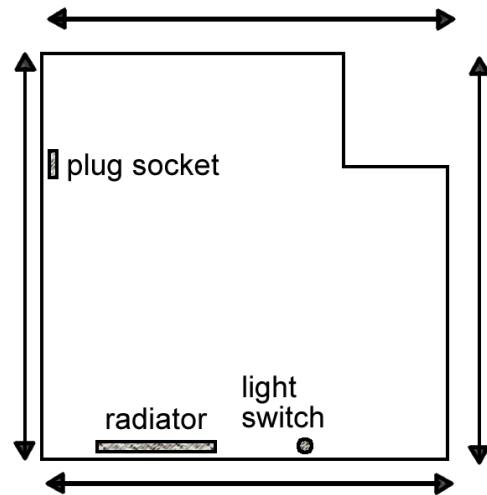

3. Measure your doors and windows and include the frames. Also note the distance from the walls and floor. Please note that if skirting boards are fitted, measure from skirting to skirting.

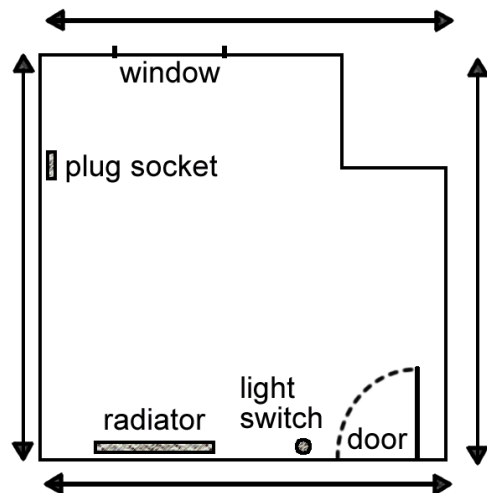

4. Measure your ceiling height in three separate places to ensure it is level, & add these measurements to your plan.

5. Mark on your sketch the location of any electrical sockets and the location and size of any radiators.

6. Now your sketch is complete it should look like the example below. Refer to the size & specification guides of our wall beds to reference what will fit into your room; alternatively, just give the Hideaway team a call and leave the rest to them.

Design Layout

Please draw your layout with the sizes below:

